"Within a short time I discovered that Philip was secretly smoking cigarettes. I remonstrated with him and he promised not to do it any more. But he lied to me, for he went right on smoking. Then he began to stay out at night. I did everything in the way of discipline and persuasion that I could to bring him to his senses, but it was no use. He got worse, and I then discovered that he was hanging around this candy store with the other boys.

"I finally got so fearful for him that I sent him to the Children's Court There he was committed to the Shelter for a week. He pleaded so to be let out that I finally took him back, but a condition was that he should report every Syturday to the Court.

He was lying in a stupor. He was drly reeking of clearettes and I have no doubt that excessive smoking was responsible for his condition.

"I am certain that he nada't been drinking anything, for there was no codor of liquor about him.
"I received another promise from him to behave nimself and I then went to the Doran store and told the proprietor that I would prosecute him if ne sold the boy any more acigarettes. The daughter was there and she promised not to sell him anything. She also promised me to keep him away from the place.

day from $6.1-2 to $21-4 in short order. The curb went almost wid over the slump and the brokers seemed to try to outdo each other in matter of shouting and excitement.

The slump, undoubtedly, was caused by news which the tickers sent out, announcing that one of Mayor Dunne's Municipal Commissions has just reported that the Subway was built without the proper knowledge of the city that the faulty construction in some places had caused the sattling of buildings along the lines. The report also said that the company was largely over capitalized.

The Chicago Subway consists of miles of small tunnels making a net work under the city.

WHEAT MARKET

IS FAIRLY ACTIVE.

Wheat opened practically unchanged to-day in the local market, with trading on a fairly scotive scale. Prices were a shade lower in the Northwest on the favorable weather, but there was a fair demander on professionalls based on the stackiness of cables and a message reporting serious damage to crops in Russis. There was a moderate decline in corn.

New York's opening prices were:

The countermore them that of yesterday. During the central hour the market was more uniformly strong than at any time since the present upward movement has been in progress. Buying or ders were executed in many stocks by the highest class of brokerage houses, some of them for 5,000 or 10,000 share hidoks. At the same time there was account and an enormous amount of buying orders for odd out.

London came in strong, and during the morning session arottrage trokers bought fully $5,000 shares for London account. This buying after such a long interval of agasthy on the part of London traders was regarded as signifying that the great bankink interests in Europe are confident that peace between Japan and Russia will be stablished at the conference here.
